Independent Highway Commission Still a 'Must' for Arkansas

Rep. Roscoe Brown of Jonesboro has introduced in the House a proposed constitutional amendment to increase the size of the State Highway Commission from five to ten members and to cut their terms from ten to six years, according to the AP legislative report in Tuesday's Star.

"I want to give the independence to the highway department that it needs, but still reduce the terms and make it (the commission) receptive to the people," Rep. Brown is quoted. "Any commissioner with a 10-year term by nature tends to get a little away from the people."

Hear! Hear! This is a 2-year legislator talking about a 10-year highway commissioner.

It was to protect the highway system from 2-year legislators and 2-year governors that the autonomous highway commission was set up by constitutional amendment. Its 10-year terms were designed to make it proof against political raiding by the legislature or governor.

Few legislators like the idea. It reduces the amount of horse-trading by politicians on road matters.

Legislators may not like it but only Roscoe Brown is foolhardy enough to propose a constitutional amendment to destroy a highway management system that has worked far better than the old system of building roads through the governor's office and the General Assembly.

Fortunately a constitutional amendment proposal has to carry a majority vote of the people before it becomes effective.

Come that day and Roscoe will have his answer.

But I don't think he will like it.

Lettin' the air out of the tires

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator who runs to work wants to let the air out of the tires of one of the capital's most coveted prestige symbols—the chauffeur-driven limousine.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has told heads of a dozen agencies whose budgets are reviewed by his Appropriations subcommittee to expect all funds for chauffeurs and limousines to be cut off.

"In view of the stringent fiscal straits in which we find ourselves, the cutbacks for low-income housing and programs to aid low-income farmers, and the controls placed on the wages of American workers," the limousines should stop rolling, Proxmire said.

"It is absurd for the secretary of HUD and four of his assistants and under secretaries to be chauffeured around Washington at the same time the agency has frozen funds for public housing," Proxmire said.

Each day, Proxmire runs the 4.8 miles from his home across town to the Senate. He says the streets are overrun with government limousines "toting faceless officials to and from their place of residence and their offices."

He said that most of the officials can easily afford to drive their own cars or hire a taxi "to get officials up to the (Capitol) Hill or to cocktail parties around town."

"In dire need," Proxmire added, "walking would both save funds and improve the health and efficiency of key members of the government."

'Just in case' bill scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — House antiwar forces say they will introduce a bill to cut off funds for the Vietnam war—just in case the current round of peace talks fail to produce settlement.

"Obviously the steam would go out of it if a peace agreement is announced," Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., said Tuesday, "and I would like to see that happen."

Hamilton said the bill will be introduced Thursday despite President Nixon's hopes that the current Paris talks will lead to a settlement "in the event the peace talks don't succeed and the war continues."

The bill embodies the antiwar language approved by House Democrats, 154 to 75, two weeks ago and is the one antiwar lobby including Common Cause say they will support.

It would prohibit expenditure of any funds "for U.S. military combat operations in or over Indochina" and require that "such operations be terminated immediately" provided arrangements have been made for release of all American POWs, safe withdrawal of U.S. forces, and an accounting of Americans missing in enemy territory.

The 154 House Democratic Caucus votes for the language Jan. 2 indicated the House—which had rejected all Senate war-deadline measures in the past—still was not ready to approve one by itself.

Sixty-four Republicans would need to join Democrats for the measure to pass. That is three times the 23 votes House antiwar Republicans cast last year.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott said over the weekend, before Nixon announced peace progress and the halt of U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, that they doubt Congress could legislate an end to the war.

They said they doubt Congress could muster the two-thirds vote necessary to override Nixon's veto—even if there were enough votes to send a cutoff measure to him in the first place.

Nominations are approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved President Nixon's top defense and intelligence nominations, but it appears the President will be sworn in Saturday without full Senate approval of his new Cabinet.

Mash flows like water

Floyd Jones, Washington Marshall, watches mash gush from a 550-gallon still pot—one of six destroyed Tuesday afternoon by county, state and federal agents in a raid on a hog barn near Spring Hill, about a half-mile from Bois d' Ark Lake. One man was arrested near the mammoth still, and was released on bond. Officers poured out 3,300 gallons of mash, 55 gallons of moonshine in a steel drum, and confiscated 26 gallons of moonshine. 11-1 in Corona trial FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP) — After five days of deliberation, the jury in the mass-murder trial of Juan V. Corona says it has progressed from a 8-4 to an 11-1 deadlock.

Judge Richard E. Patton ordered the jury not to reveal whether the majority of 11 favored conviction or acquittal.

Defense attorney Richard Hawk told newsmen he was sure that the jury's announcement Tuesday meant 11 jurors favored an innocent verdict for Corona, who is accused slaying 25 migrant farm laborers.

Prosecutors G. Dave Teja and Bart Williams walked swiftly from the courthouse and refused to talk to newsmen.

The jury had asked that the court reconvene for a rereading of the legal definition of "reasonable doubt," referring to the requirement that a defendant cannot be found guilty unless the prosecution has proven guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

its members for a delay, the committee Tuesday approved the appointment of Elliot L. Richardson as secretary of defense, William P. Clements Jr. as deputy defense secretary and James P. Schlesinger as director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who wants the Senate to delay action on the three nominees until after the inauguration as a protest against the Vietnam war, voted "present" in committee on the motions to approve them. All other committee members voted for the nominations.

Earlier Hughes withdrew his demand for open hearings on the financial holdings of Richardson and Clements after Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman, agreed to release their proposals for managing their financial affairs while the two are in office.

Stennis said he would be ready to proceed on the Senate floor Friday.

With Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird formally leaving, Stennis said it would be "unfortunate if the confirmation of his successor is held up appreciably beyond Inauguration Day."

The Commerce Committee Monday approved nomination of Claude S. Brinegar as secretary of transportation, Egil Krogh as undersecretary of transportation and Frederick Dent as secretary of Commerce.

Other committees scheduled hearings today on two other appointments to Nixon's second-term Cabinet.

Caspar W. Weinberger, nominated to succeed Richardson as secretary of health, education and welfare, was called before the Labor and Public Welfare Committee. He already has appeared before the Finance Committee, which has primary jurisdiction on his nomination.

Nixon awaits answer that may end war

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. met for an hour tonight with President Nguyen Van Thieu to discuss a revised draft of a peace agreement.

There appeared to be growing evidence that a cease-fire was nearing.

While the U.S. Embassy would not disclose the substance of the conference, it appeared that Thieu gave President Nixon's special envoy some answers on the revised draft.

Haig had waited in the wings all day while Thieu met for 7½ hours with his National Security Council an-four military corps commanders at Independence Palace, reportedly to discuss what steps South Vietnam would take to protect the territory and people it now controls, once a cease-fire goes into effect.

Spokesmen would not say whether Haig would meet with Thieu again or when he would leave Saigon.

Haig also is scheduled to confer with the leaders of Cambodia, Thailand and Laos.

Asian diplomatic sources in Washington said they believe an agreement ending the war is very near. They anticipated that Nixon, in his inaugural address Saturday, would propose postwar rehabilitation of the economies of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos through continuing economic and military assistance.

This Washington report said there also is expectation that the Soviet Union, Communist China and other major powers will join the United States in guaranteeing the cease-fire.

South Vietnamese officials said Thieu's lengthy conference with his key advisers also dealt with modifications of the protocols to the agreement that spell out how it will be carried out.

such as the size of the international force to supervise a cease-fire and the method by which prisoners of war will be freed.

These sources said Thieu has little choice but to join in signing the final treaty because of the threat of a cutoff of U.S. military and economic aid.

Haig met with Thieu for 2½ hours Tuesday, but no more meetings were reported today.

South Vietnamese sources said on Tuesday that Nixon and Thieu planned to declare a unilateral cease-fire Friday on the eve of Nixon's inauguration. Sources said today that Nixon and Thieu still plan to declare a cease-fire but the day may be pushed back.

The Presidential Palace issued a denial of a Columbia Broadcasting System report quoting palace sources as saying South Vietnam and the United States were ready to declare a cease-fire.

Despite rumors of peace, war rolls on in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Despite reports that a cease-fire may be near, U.S. B52s and other warplanes pounded North Vietnamese positions in South Vietnam Tuesday and today with the heaviest strikes in more than a month, the U.S. Command announced.

With the bombing halted over all of North Vietnam, more American strikes were being carried out across South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, U.S. officials said.

Raiders by fighter-bombers increased by more than one-third to 311 in South Vietnam during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m., the command said.

U.S. B52 bombers launched about 90 strikes across South Vietnam during the same period, dropping up to 2,700 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, staging areas and supply caches.

The aim of the raids apparently is to prevent a big North Vietnamese supply buildup prior to a cease-fire.

The bulk of the air strikes were in Quang Tri Province just below the demilitarized zone and in the Saigon River corridor northwest of the capital. Both are major infiltration corridors and staging areas.

A substantial North Vietnamese buildup has been reported along the river corridor in an area 35 to 50 miles northwest of Saigon. About one-third of the B52 raids were concentrated in this region, although no major fighting was reported there.

Twenty 122mm rockets hit Da Nang Air Base and an adjoining village before dawn, wounding one Vietnamese and damaging six buildings and one aircraft, the Saigon command said. No U.S. casualties were reported.

On the far northern front, four South Vietnamese marines were reported killed and 15 wounded when North Vietnamese gunners slammed 350 artillery and mortar shells into their positions 15 miles below the DMZ and followed with a ground attack. Eleven North Vietnamese soldiers were killed, the Saigon command reported.

U.S. fighter-bombers and 7th Fleet destroyers supporting the South Vietnamese just below the DMZ reported knocking out two North Vietnamese tanks north of Quang Tri City. Several supply trucks and water supply craft also were reported destroyed.

In Cambodia, the government said its troops have recaptured all positions along the Mekong River that they lost last week, reducing the threat to vital river traffic.

A spokesman said the entire 28-mile stretch of the Mekong from Neak Luong, 32 miles east of Phnom Penh, down to the South Vietnamese border was back in government hands.

Diamond Cafe comes down

Demolition of the Diamond Cafe and Dad's Place is underway. Most of the Diamond Cafe structure, located at Third and Elm St., has been razed. Workmen began tearing down the Dad's Place building adjacent to the cafe last week. The razing of the structures is part of the Urban Renewal program. A parking lot will be constructed on the site.

Jones continues anti-ERA scrimmage

Review of legislative action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway continued Tuesday his effort to block ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Jones introduced a resolution that would delay ratification of the amendment until the 1975 legislative session. It would provide that a two-year study of the amendment be conducted before it could be considered for ratification.

The senator said Monday that he planned to introduce an amendment that would in effect kill the ratification proposal. He said the resolution "was just insurance."

Jones said "there was no way of knowing" how the U.S. Supreme Court might interpret the amendment adding that he doubted many persons realized what "far-reaching effects" the amendment might have.

"I went home Monday night and went through my law books for over an hour looking up the rights that women have under the law," Jones said. "This amendment would take all those rights away."

Jones also introduced a bill that would require members appointed by the governor to the Game and Fish Commission be approved by the Senate.

Sen. W. E. Rainwater of Greenwood introduced a bill that would establish an Arkansas Turnpike Authority. The authority would have the power to issue bonds to purchase rights of way and to construct and maintain turnpikes in the state.

Rep. Paul Meers of Little Rock introduced a bill to create a commission to study the feasibility of establishing state-owned liquor stores in Arkansas.

Reps. Ivan Rose of Rogers and Vada Sheid of Mountain Home introduced the administration bill to set up procedures for expansion of the state's community junior college system.

Rep. Mike Wilson of Jacksonville introduced a bill to extend the provisions of the code of ethics act to county, municipal and school district officials. Existing laws apply to state and district officials.

Rep. Charles Stewart of Fayetteville submitted a measure to allow Arkansans to compute their state income tax bills by applying the state tax rates to the net taxable income as reflected by their federal income tax return. The proposal would allow the state Department of Finance and Administration to enter into any agreement required to let the Internal Revenue Service collect the state income tax for the state.

A group of four legislators introduced the administration bill to exempt low-income persons and families from the state income tax. The bill would exempt single persons whose gross income does not exceed $3,000 a year, a married couple filing jointly with a gross income of no more than $4,000, a married couple filing jointly having one dependent child whose gross income does not exceed $4,500 and a married couple with two or more children whose gross income is no more than $5,000.

Reps. Harry Carter and Gayle Windsor, both of Little Rock, introduced a bill to amend the public school fair employment and dismissal practices act to provide that a teacher who is to be dismissed is entitled to a hearing before dismissal. Current law provides the hearing after dismissal.

Rep. Clayton Little of Bentonville submitted a bill to create an Arkansas scenic rivers system and a Scenic Rivers Committee to administer land and property acquired under the proposed act. Scenic rivers legislation has been introduced in prior sessions.

Public trust

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Steve A. Smith, 23, of Huntsville, a state representative, says: "My personal political philosophy is that there should be public trust, not a public trough."

With that explanation for newsmen, he has introduced six bills—and plans a seventh—as an "open government" legislative package.

"Any time we can do away with conflict of interest or secrecy in government, then we have government by, for and of the people," Smith said.

One bill introduced Tuesday by Smith would require that meetings of the governor's cabinet be open to the public, which usually means news media representatives.

The same bill also would permit public inspection of records of athletic departments of state-supported schools.

Gov. Dale Bumpers has steadfastly refused to permit newsmen to sit in on meetings of his cabinet. He said he would not get as free an exchange of ideas if reporters were present.

The bill to open records of athletic departments of state schools would apply to, among other things, the giving of complimentary tickets, Smith said.

While some schools, such as Arkansas State University, say their complimentary ticket data is available for public inspection, others, like the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville, have refused to divulge the information.

Smith said he had asked the UA for a list of recipients of free tickets, and the university responded with a list, but Smith termed it a "pseudo" list which was incomplete.

The lawmaker, second-youngest member of the 69th Arkansas General Assembly, holds a bachelor's degree in public address from the UA and is finishing his master's thesis in communications at the UA. He has applied for law school.

Other bills introduced by Smith Tuesday would:

—Permit the advertising of prices of wine and liquor, which has been prohibited by the act that in 1971 repealed the so-called fair trade law which required at least a 30 per cent price markup.

—Prohibit the appointment to a regulatory agency, board or commission of any person who receives any business subject to regulation by that agency, board or commission.

—Provide that every candidate in a state, district, county, municipal or school election must file a monthly statement disclosing campaign contributions received. Failure to comply would be ground for disqualification to run for office or hold office.

Raises wages

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House approved an increase in the state minimum wage Tuesday, highlighting another slow legislative day.

For the sixth day since the General Assembly convened Jan. 8, both houses conducted little business, largely marking time until their committees get into full swing. The committees have turned out few bills for Senate and House consideration.

House Speaker G. W. "Buddy" Turner Jr. of Pine Bluff lamented the lack of bills to be considered by the House and urged representatives to step up their efforts to get their measures out of committee.

The Senate considered and approved six bills Tuesday. The House passed four.

The House approved a bill by Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock to increase the minimum wage from $1.20 an hour to $1.40 an hour.

The measure, approved on a vote of 85-0 would go into effect July 1.

Recommend

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Joint Budget Committee of the Arkansas Legislature Tuesday recommended $14.8 million more than Gov. Dale Bumpers had proposed for the operation of the state-supported colleges and universities in the next biennium.

Bumpers said, however, that he had planned to revise his recommendations upward and that the committee action was "close" to what he had in mind, but he said it still exceeded what he had planned to recommend.

Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin said the legislature should dip into a proposed reserve fund to give the colleges and universities more, if necessary.

Delays action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A list of 15 appointments was submitted to the state Senate for confirmation Tuesday by Gov. Dale Bumpers, but the Senate delayed action after Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway raised an objection.

Senate rules require that appointments must be on the desks of senators for 24 hours before action is taken, but Sen. Max Howell of Jacksonville made a motion to suspend the rules so the appointments could be considered.

Jones said he objected to suspending the rules and after several minutes of discussion Howell withdrew his motion.

Prejudiced?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled unanimously today that defendants have the right to ask jurors whether they are racially prejudiced.

However, the court refused to extend that right to questions about other forms of prejudice.

The ruling reversed the drug conviction of a South Carolina civil rights leader, Gene Ham, who was convicted of possessing marijuana and sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Ham contended his rights were violated because the trial judge refused to ask the jurors if they were prejudiced against blacks and whether they were prejudiced against people who wore beards.

The Supreme Court in an opinion written by Justice William H. Rehnquist, said the Constitution gave the defendants the right to ask jurors about possible racial prejudice. But the high court said the Constitution did not give defendants the right to ask if the jurors were prejudiced against beards.

HOPE, ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Court Judge Tom F. Digby of Little Rock declined Tuesday to order a new drawing by state senators to determine who will serve terms of two years and who will serve terms of four years.

He said a drawing at a duck dinner in Little Rock Dec. 3 did not violate state law or the state Constitution.

Digby said in his ruling that the Senate was not covered by the terms of the Freedom of Information Act, but he also ruled that any exchange of terms between senators was illegal and void.

The drawing was to determine which senators would serve two-year terms and which would serve four-year terms. Because of the 1970 census and the subsequent legislative redistricting, all Senate positions were up for election in 1972.

From now until the next census, only half the Senate will be up for election in each election year.

The ruling came in a suit filed in the name of Charles T. Bernard, state chairman of the Republican party. The GOP had asked Digby to void the drawing and any trading of terms and to issue a declaratory judgment stating whether any secret or closed meetings by the Senate would be in violation of the Freedom of Information Act.

The drawing took place at the annual duck dinner held by Sen. Max Howell of Jacksonville. News accounts of the drawing and subsequent remarks by senators indicated that Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff drew a two-year term, but traded it for a four-year term that had been drawn by Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith.

That drawing transpired before any of the newly elected senators had been given the oath of office.

The suit asked Digby to order a new drawing, but he declined to issue such an order.

The judge said that Amendment 23 to the state Constitution requires the senators to divide into two classes by lots for terms and that this drawing shall take place at the first regular session succeeding any apportionment.

But he added: "The provisions of this section are not specific as to the time of drawing the lots and the Senate has broad discretion over its procedural matters, which also is based on constitutional authority, and the court will not usurp the legislative authority and right by attempting to dictate how the Senate will perform its ministerial duties."

Digby said it would be an abuse of the court's power "to direct an official how he shall perform his duties."

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES E. MCGHEE

Miss Jones becomes bride of Mr. McGhee

Miss Gwendolyn Kay Jones and Charles Edward McGhee exchanged marriage vows Dec. 30, in Mt. Pleasant C.M.E. Church with the Reverend Johnnie McGhee, father of the groom, officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones, Jr. of Hope. The groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Johnnie McGhee of Texarkana, Tex.

The couple stood under an arch garlanded with com-modore fern flanked by arrangements of large white mums and eight-branched candles. They knelt on a white prayer bench for the blessing.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a empire styled gown of white lined re-embroidered nylon lace, designed with a small stand-up collar, long sleeves ending in with an arrangement of yellow roses and silver candleholders of pink candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated with pink and blue roses, and served by Mrs. Robert Lee Jones. Mrs. Theodis Palmer presided at the punch bowl.

The groom's table was overlaid with a white irish linen cloth and centered with yellow roses and blue candles from which chocolate cake, mints and nuts were served by Mrs. Joe Bradley.

On another table was a gold-colored flowing champagne fountain. Miss Linda Phillips registered the guests. Others dispensing hospitality were Miss Sandra Jones of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Robert A. Jones of Jonesboro.

For travel, the bride wore a royal blue and light blue pants suit to which she pinned a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple is at home in Helena where Mr. McGhee is on the faculty of Central Junior High School. At the end of the fall semester at Henderson State College, Mrs. McGhee completed all requirements for a B.S.E. degree in English.

Husband takes the term 'close relatives' serious

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE-M. Y. NEWS SYND., INC.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is with my husband, age 32, and his two nieces, ages 16 and 17. (They are sisters.)

We went to an all-night roadhouse inn to have breakfast at 2 a. m., and my husband disappeared with the 17-year-old for two hours. They said they were upstairs looking at the view.

When they came back I didn't say anything, but I was plenty mad. Whenever my husband and I take these two nieces out, he takes turns dancing with them and leaves me sitting. It's gotten so he never takes me out alone, he's always got these girls with us. He has fixed them up with dates with some of his friends who are his age, and for all I know my husband could be seeing them himself. He has disappeared for whole nights and comes home with lipstick on his shirts.

I have told the girls' mother about this and she says I am silly to worry, but I don't think I am because there was a lot of talk about incest in their family between my hus- band's younger brother and his older sister.

When my husband says goodbye to these nieces, he kisses them on the mouth. My question? Is this healthy?

JEALOUS IN COLORADO

DEAR JEALOUS: It's not healthy, and neither is the relationship between your husband and his young nieces. Set this swinger down and talk to him like a Dutch Uncle, or that uncle will be in Dutch for fooling around with minors.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a little problem we need help with. We have been going to a doctor for the past four years since we've moved to this town. Once, when our regular doctor was on vacation his partner filled in for him, and Abby, the partner was fantastic! I liked him so much better than my regular doctor.

My husband also had the partner and liked him better than our own.

We would like to switch over to the partner but we don't know how to go about it. We are so afraid of hurting our first doctor's feelings.

Do you happen to know how doctors feel about this sort of thing?

MRS. B.

DEAR MRS. B.: I doubt that a doctor would be over-joyed to learn that a patient preferred his partner, and would like to switch. But a patient has a right to choose his own doctor—unless he goes to a clinic where it is under- stood that he will take whichever doctor is available. Read on. Another reader has your problem in reverse.

DEAR ABBY: About two months ago my doctor took in a partner. The problem is that when I go to my doctor's office, the nurse tells me I have to have the partner.

I like my original doctor, and since I am paying the bill I feel I am entitled to get the doctor of my choice.

I am told the new doctor is "just as good," but I still prefer my old doctor.

Please tell me what I can do about this. I don't want to make a trip to the doctor's office, and then go home with- out seeing a doctor because my own doctor won't see me, which is what I intend to do if this happens again. Please advise me.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: The next time you want an ap- pointment, tell your doctor's secretary which doctor you want to see, and make it clear that you will see no other! It is common practice for a doctor to have his partner (or some colleague) substitute for him while he is on vacation or in an emergency, but no ethical doctor will arbitrarily transfer a patient to his partner without the consent and approval of the patient.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Sunderland is guest speaker at garden club

John Sunderland, District Game Biologist with the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, spoke to the Hope Iris Club Friday, Jan. 12 at a meeting in the home of Mrs. A.A. Albritton with Mrs. Owen Nix, co-hostess.

A slide presentation, "Trapping and Banding Canvas Back Ducks," was the program brought by Mr. Sunderland, who was a member of a co-operative banding project in 1972 in Saskatchewan, Canada.

Members brought line arrangements using bird accessories, and Mrs. R.D. Moore won first place for her arrangement. The club voted to continue its project of planting pyracantha bushes at Beryl Henry School with Mrs. A.A. Albritton as project chairman.

Dessert was served to the members and two guests, the speaker and Dr. Ann Arnold of Dallas.

If you haven't got around to using the Stayman convention as yet, we don't recom- mend that you try the Jacoby transfer. They fit to- gether like bread and butter provided you use what we call a very nonforcing Stay- man.

In this variation the no- trump bidder must allow for the possibility that re- sponder's two clubs has been made with a very bad hand and must not go past two spades on his own hook.

Now take a look at the North hand. Your partner opens one no-trump. You don't want him to play there and you are right. He won't make one no-trump.

Playing ordinary bridge you can respond two hearts and hope for the best. It won't happen. You just can't make two hearts.

Playing the transfer you can bid two diamonds and let your partner struggle with the two hearts. He won't make it any more than you would but better action is possible. You respond two clubs!

You plan to bid two hearts if your partner rebids two diamonds but something nice happens. Your partner has spades and bids two of that suit!

You pass and let him play there. West opens the queen of diamonds and your partner has no trouble making the two-spade contract.

A king of spades opening would probably have beaten him but somehow or other people don't find such bril- liant and unusual leads.

Players pick Redskin back

Larry Brown romps to MVP Award

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NEA)—Larry Brown, the irrepressible running back of the Washington Redskins, was today named the winner of the 18th annual Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy as the most valuable player in the National Football League.

The recipient of the award, instituted by Newspaper Enterprise Association in 1955, is determined by a vote of his peers, the players on the 26 teams in the National Football League.

Brown was the runaway winner this season, just as he had run away from tacklers to lead the National Football Conference in rushing.

In a season which produced nine men who gained more than 1,000 yards on the ground — a decade ago only five different men in professional football history had attained that figure — the compact Redskins' runner was the nonpareil.

He is the first ball carrier to win the coveted trophy since the great Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns in 1965.

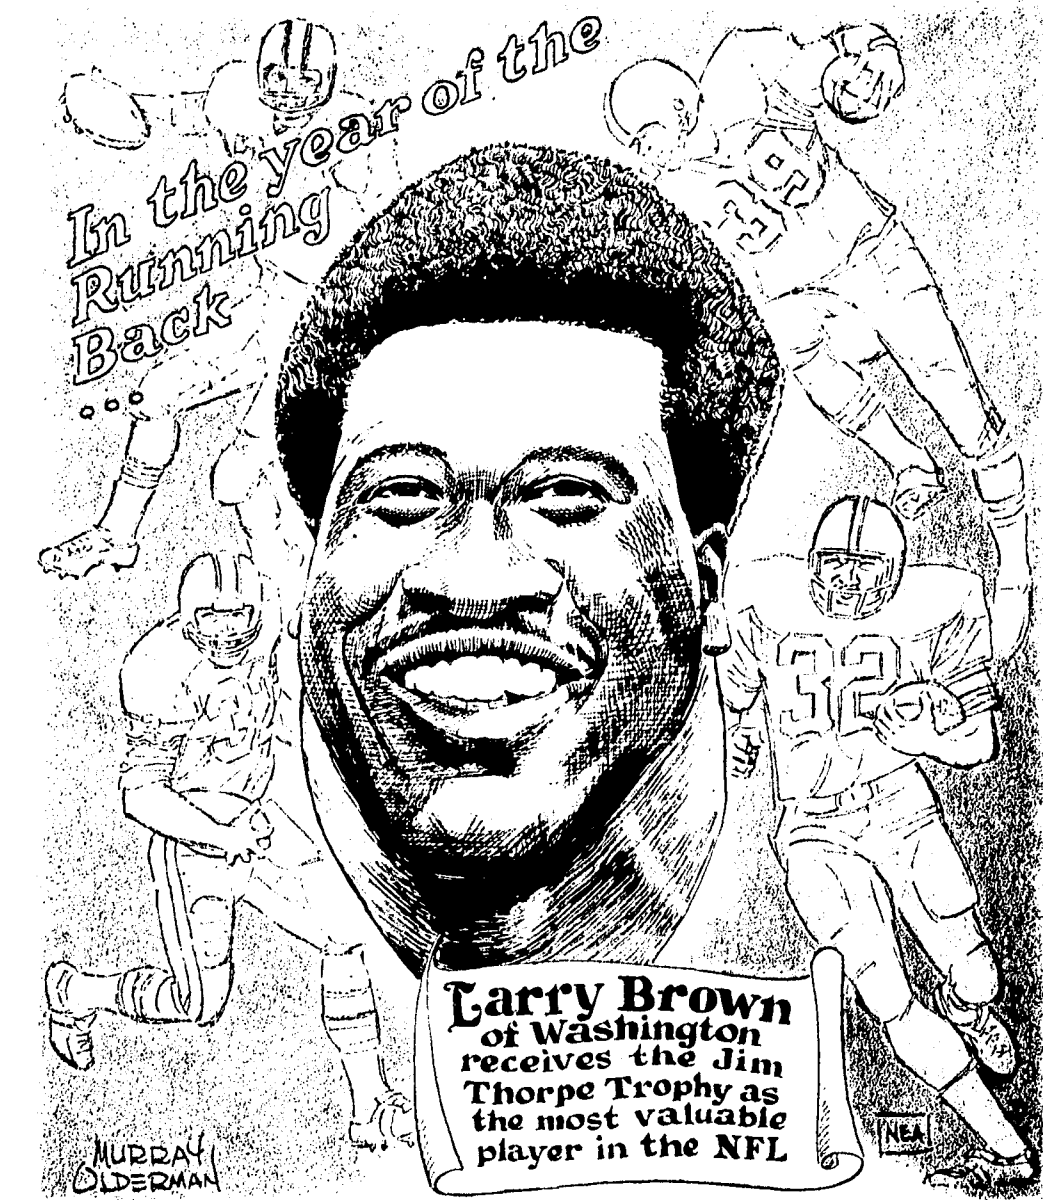

"I'm really honored," said the latter-day Brown, with feeling, when told of his selection. "It's a surprise and I don't even know what to say. That's the same award that went to Jim Brown and John Unitas — all these individuals I've admired."

Brown has completed his fourth pro season with the Redskins. He was an obscure eighth round draft choice from Kansas State when he reported to Vince Lombardi's first Washington team in 1969, with marginal size (5-11 and 195 pounds) for a running back in the NFL.

Lombardi liked his moves as a runner and his guts but couldn't figure a reaction lag until he checked Larry's hearing. A special device fitted in his helmet saved his career.

Football has brought the good life to Brown, but he doesn't forget the poverty of his childhood, spent in a rough Pittsburgh area. A college sociology major, he works with deprived children. On Christmas Day, with reserve Redskin quarterback Sam Wyche and Harold Bell, who runs a local "Saturday" program at the Hillcrest Recreation Center for ghetto kids, he threw a party for 100 youngsters.

This has been the Year of the Running Back in professional football, and Larry has been the pacesetter. He reached a career high of 1,216 yards rushing, although he was held out of the last two games on the regular schedule so he would be in shape for the playoffs.

"Many have said," surmises Larry, "it's due to the moving of the hash marks closer to the center of the field, or that we run more because of the double zones teams are using on pass defense. I think it's due mostly to the fact there aren't actually too many great quarterbacks in football right now. There are a lot of younger ones playing in the league and it takes awhile to learn to read defenses, so most teams are going with the run first because it's safer."

When you have Larry Brown in the backfield, it's also a cinch way to pick up yardage. He has averaged 4.3 yards every time he has taken a handoff in pro ball.

Because he takes a tremendous battering (he carries the ball an average of 24 times a game), Brown has built his weight up to 205 pounds. He also runs smarter.

"As a rookie," he says, "you run scared. You try not to take a loss. You outrun the blocking and you make minor mistakes, sometimes a big one. With experience, you recognize defenses and become a more complete ballplayer, running pass routes and blocking."

The last two Redskin seasons under George Allen, the most successful in Washington since 1945, produced a change in Larry's football thinking. "We've absorbed," he says, "the George Allen philosophy of everybody pulling together. We got away from individual goals."

The Jim Thorpe Trophy, however, represents in the case of Larry Brown unique individual achievement. He will receive the trophy in a ceremony to be telecast over the CBS network on the special pre-game show, "NFL Today Presents the 1972 All-Pro," preceding the Pro Bowl in Dallas on Jan. 21.

Ladycats win first round in tourney

The Hope Ladycats advanced to the second round of the Little Rock Joe T. Robinson Girls Invitational Tournament by waxing St. Charles 58-36 last night.

It was not until Korny Coleman's three point play midway through the first quarter, making the score 9-6, that Hope took that unheeded lead.

Janet McCain then accounted for eight points, while St. Charles could muster only three. The first quarter ended with the score Hope 17, St. Charles 9.

Turnovers plagued the Wildcats in the second quarter. Hope scored eight straight points to start that period and after the period, the outcome of the game was obvious. The score at halftime was Hope 40, St. Charles 20.

The Wildcats were not ready to quit yet as they scored eight points to open the second half. Gigi Gladney was responsible for the entire Ladycat offense by sinking two field goals. The score after three quarters read, Hope 44, St. Charles 30.

The Ladycats dominated the early stages of the fourth quarter, putting the game on ice. This allowed the reserves to see plenty of action. Final score: Hope 58, St. Charles 36.

McCain led the balanced Ladycat offense with 21 points, while Coleman pumped in 17. Gladney finished the night with 16. Also singled out for a fine defensive game were Betty Honeycutt, Judy Reyenga, and Mona Rowe.

The Ladycats return to action in the tournament Thursday night. They will play Lake Hamilton, who beat Calico Rock 50-42 in their first round game.

Fairview leads basketball race

Just as predicted, the Div. 7AA basketball race is expected to be a barn burner. The second week of the conference schedule saw Camden upset Malvern 52-50 and Arkadelphia bump off Magnolia 63-51.

Malvern was one of three pre-season favorites along with Magnolia the defending state champion. Fairview, the defending district champion, moved to the top of the standings with a 70-58 win over Ashdown. In other results Camden defeated Arkadelphia 71-65 and Arkadelphia downed Hope 58-56.

The Cardinals are the only undefeated team in the loop and the Bobcats are the only winless team. That could change this week as Fairview faced Magnolia on Tuesday night, Arkadelphia was at Hope; on Friday night Malvern plays at Arkadelphia and Camden at Ashdown; on Saturday night Fairview plays at Camden, and Malvern goes to Magnolia.

Because of the change in state tourney playing dates the round robin schedule for the final week is being revised with games being moved up. The district title is likely not to be decided until the week of Feb.

In the First listing of individual scorers Camden's Jamie Hall takes the lead with 44 points in three games. Teammate Billy Christopher is second with 41 points. Lonnie Buckner of Malvern is tied with Christopher with 41 points also.

The Standings:

Mel Daniels on All-Star list

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana's Mel Daniels, the leading rebounder in American Basketball Association history and the first to score 10,000 career regular season and playoff points, became the only player selected for all six league All-Star games when he was named to the West Division's starting lineup today.

The 6-foot-9 Daniels received 234 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters from each of the league's 10 cities. Daniels was named the Most Valuable Player in the 1971 All-Star game. This year's game will be played Feb. 6 at Salt Lake City, Utah.

Daniels' teammate, forward George McGinnis, was the leading vote-getter with 269 points.

Joining Daniels and McGinnis in the starting lineup will be forward Willie Wise of Utah, and guards Jimmy Jones of Utah and Ralph Sampson of Denver.

Named as reserves were center Zelmo Beaty of Utah, forwards Rich Jones of Dallas and Stew Johnson of San Diego, and guards Chuck Williams of San Diego and Warren Jabali of Denver.

Indiana's Donnie Freeman, the only player aside from Daniels to be named to play in the All-Star game the five previous years, did not make this season's West team.

McGinnis, Rich Jones, Johnson and Williams will be making their first All-Star appearances.

The East Division team will be announced Friday.

The East won last year's game 142-115 at Louisville and leads the series 3-2.

Crowd hollers for 'Brew'

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the crowd in Minneapolis' Williams Arena starts hollering "Brew," that means Minnesota's Jim Brewer is at it again.

Brewer did his thing—tight, hard-nosed defense and rugged rebounding — against McNeill and the Marquette Warriors Tuesday night, and the result was a 64-53 victory for sixth-ranked Minnesota, 11-1.

For seventh-ranked Marquette, it was the second loss in a row after a string of 11 victories. The Warriors hit just 23 of 77 shots from the field—29.9 per cent—and McNeill, their 6-foot-9 star forward, connected on only six of 25 tries.

A big reason was Brew.

The strong, 6-9 senior forward, who played on the U.S. Olympic team at Munich last summer, scored 10 points, sinking all four of his field goal attempts and both his tries from the foul line. But it wasn't the scoring that had the fans shouting, it was the rest of Brewer's game.

He crashed the boards for 10 rebounds as Minnesota out-rebounded Marquette 48-38. He blocked three Warrior shots. And he hounded McNeill all night long.

Marquette Coach Al McGuire, who drew a pair of technical fouls for his outburst on the bench during the game, was considerably calmer afterwards.

"They were just too physical for us," the dapper McGuire said. "I don't think any good team ever shoots 29 per cent."

"I think Minnesota is better than we are ... at least tonight they were."

Clyde Turner provided the offensive punch with 20 points for the Gophers in the game played before a crowd of 17,987 plus 4, 002 more who watched a closed circuit telecast in a next-door hockey arena.

In the only other game involving a team in the top 20, 12th-rated Houston sank 63 per cent of its shots from the field in whipping crosstown rival Rice 96-77.

Carlton highest paid pitcher in baseball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tall, dark-haired young man with a mustache approached the reception desk in the office of the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Is Paul Owens in please?" the visitor asked the receptionist?

"Who wants to see Paul Owens?" the girl retorted.

Yes, there is at least one person in Philadelphia who didn't recognize super pitcher Steve Carlton.

The embarrassed young lady waved Carlton toward Owens' office where a few minutes later he affixed his signature to a contract that made him the highest paid pitcher in baseball.

The Phillies wouldn't disclose the exact amount, but Director of Player Personnel Paul Owens said it was more than the reported $150,000 earned by Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hunting license prices may be raised

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission voted Tuesday to drop the idea of a multimillion dollar bond issue, but voted to ask for a $1.50 increase in the price of resident hunting licenses.

The commission said that if the increase is approved by the Arkansas Legislature funds derived from it would cover the rising cost of commission operations.

However, the commission said that if the increase is not approved by legislators, many proposed projects may be jeopardized, especially those involving state obligations to match federal funds.

The idea of a bond issue was originally mentioned by some members of the legislature for increasing funds available for the operations of the commission and for the purchase of lands for wildlife preservation. At times, higher amounts were discussed, but a commission spokesman said the $10 million figure was mentioned most often.

In other action, the commission voted to abandon its pen-raised quail program. This was a program through which the commission sold pen-raised birds to the general public for release in the wild.

The commission would raise the birds, then sell the birds to the general public at one-half of the cost of raising the birds, with the stipulation that the birds be released in the wild.

The money previously spent on this program will now be used for the extension of a program known as "Acres for Wildlife." This a venture with county extension agents to encourage land owners to increase the farm game habitat on their lands.

The commission also set dates for the 1973 deer season as Nov. 12-17 and Dec. 10-15. Decisions on bag limit, on whether to hold any antlerless deer hunts and on the possibility of a third short season will be discussed at a later meeting.

Bulls trim Blazers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Guards don't win games in the NBA but forwards do," Jerry Sloan said with tongue in cheek.

What Sloan was getting at was that scoring isn't the big thing; winning is.

Sloan's line in Tuesday night's National Basketball Association boxscore read 0 4-4 4 and his running mate, Bob Weiss, wasn't much more impressive at 0 5-6 5, but the Chicago Bulls still trimmed the Portland Trail Blazers 100-89.

"It may look bad in the boxscore because Bobby and I didn't get a basket even though we played all but about five minutes of the game," Sloan said. "But guards don't win games in the NBA but forwards do. All you have to do is look at the rebounds I have and the turnovers Weiss and I force, plus the assists, and you can see our value."

While Sloan and Weiss were contributing rebounds, turnovers and assists, Garfield Heard and Bob Love split 54 points as the Bulls remained 4½ games behind Milwaukee in the Midwest Division. The Bucks trounced the Philadelphia 76ers 108-92.

On the surface, forward Lou Hudson's 20-foot jump shot with two seconds remaining in overtime gave the Atlanta Hawks a 130-129 triumph over the Detroit Pistons. But Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons wasn't overlooking one of his guards, Pistol Pete Maravich, who contributed 20 points and a career high 18 assists.

"I know Hudson will get the headlines," said Fitzsimmons, "but there is no way we could have won this game without Maravich. Pete is a guy who always thinks he can win. That's the way he plays."

Elsewhere, Boston turned back Buffalo 106-102, New York nipped Phoenix 102-101, Baltimore upset Los Angeles 112-104, Cleveland edged Golden State 100-98 and Seattle shaded Kansas City-Omaha 125-122.

American Basketball Association scores: Indiana 130, Denver 113; Virginia 127, Memphis 122.

John Havlicek, who scored 17 points in the first half and none in the third period, erupted for 16 in a fourth-quarter rally that enabled Boston to beat Buffalo for the 14th time in as many meetings.

It was the Celtics' sixth straight triumph and kept them 41 percentage points ahead of the New York Knicks.

Two free throws by Bill Bradley enabled New York to edge Phoenix for its 11th straight victory. Phil Jackson of the Knicks knocked away Mo Layton's field goal attempt in the last second.

Elvin Hayes triggered Baltimore's success over Los Angeles with 32 points as Archie Clark played his first game of the season for Bullets after ending his long contract dispute over the weekend.

Cornell Warner scored a rebound shot with three seconds to go in Cleveland's triumph over Golden State.

Seattle rallied in the final period to outlast Kansas City-Omaha despite 48 points by Nate Archibald of the Kings.

Have you heard of the Miami Maulers?

DALLAS (AP) — Now that most of America knows the identity of Miami's "No-Name" defense, Larry Little would like for you to take a minute to learn the cast of the Dolphin offensive line—he likes "Miami Maulers" if you want to give them a tag.

Miami's offensive line, headed by All-Pro guard Little, destroyed Washington's front four in last Sunday's 14-7 Super Bowl VII victory.

"They say Washington didn't seem to have much spark but I like to think we knocked the fire they had out of them," said Little. "We have a tremendous offensive line and for the most part nobody has ever heard of them."

"I sure am proud of the job these guys did."

Evans and Little are the only members of the Miami offensive line on the American Conference squad of Sunday's Pro Bowl game with the National Conference All-Stars in Texas Stadium Sunday.

Little said, "Anything is possible with the material we've got on this (Miami) team and I'm talking about doing it again next season and going 34-0."

The Miami list of players in the Pro Bowl was cut to eight Tuesday when wide receiver Paul Warfield had to withdraw because of an illness in the family. He was replaced by J. D. Hill of Buffalo. In the NFC, Walt Garrison of Dallas replaced Washington's injured Larry Brown at fullback.

Asked if he had any thoughts about the Pro Bowl after celebrating the victory over Washington, Little said "Yep. The American Conference is now leading in Super Bowls and we're going to be leading in Pro Bowls after Sunday."

The NFC and AFC stand 1-1 entering the game.

Keller sets new record

"My arm," admitted Billy Keller, "is a little tired."

The 5-foot-10 Indiana guard pumped in a career high 38 points—including an American Basketball Association record-tying six three-point goals—as the Pacers beat Denver 130-113 Tuesday night for only the second time in seven meetings this season and moved into a tie with the Rockets for second.

In the only other ABA action, Julius Erving poured in 46 points as the Virginia Squires rallied to defeat the Memphis Tams 127-122.

National Basketball Association scores: Boston 106, Buffalo 102; New York 102, Phoenix 101; Atlanta 130, Detroit 129 in overtime; Baltimore 112, Los Angeles 104; Milwaukee 108, Philadelphia 92; Chicago 100, Portland 89; Cleveland 100, Golden State 98; Seattle 125, Kansas City-Omaha 122.

Keller hit his first four attempts from three-point range and apparently had one in the final second that would have given him the record by himself, but the referee ruled he was inches inside the three-point line.

"We put it together," Keller said. "We ran and rebounded. This was a ballgame the guys were up for."

Busting up a moonshine operation

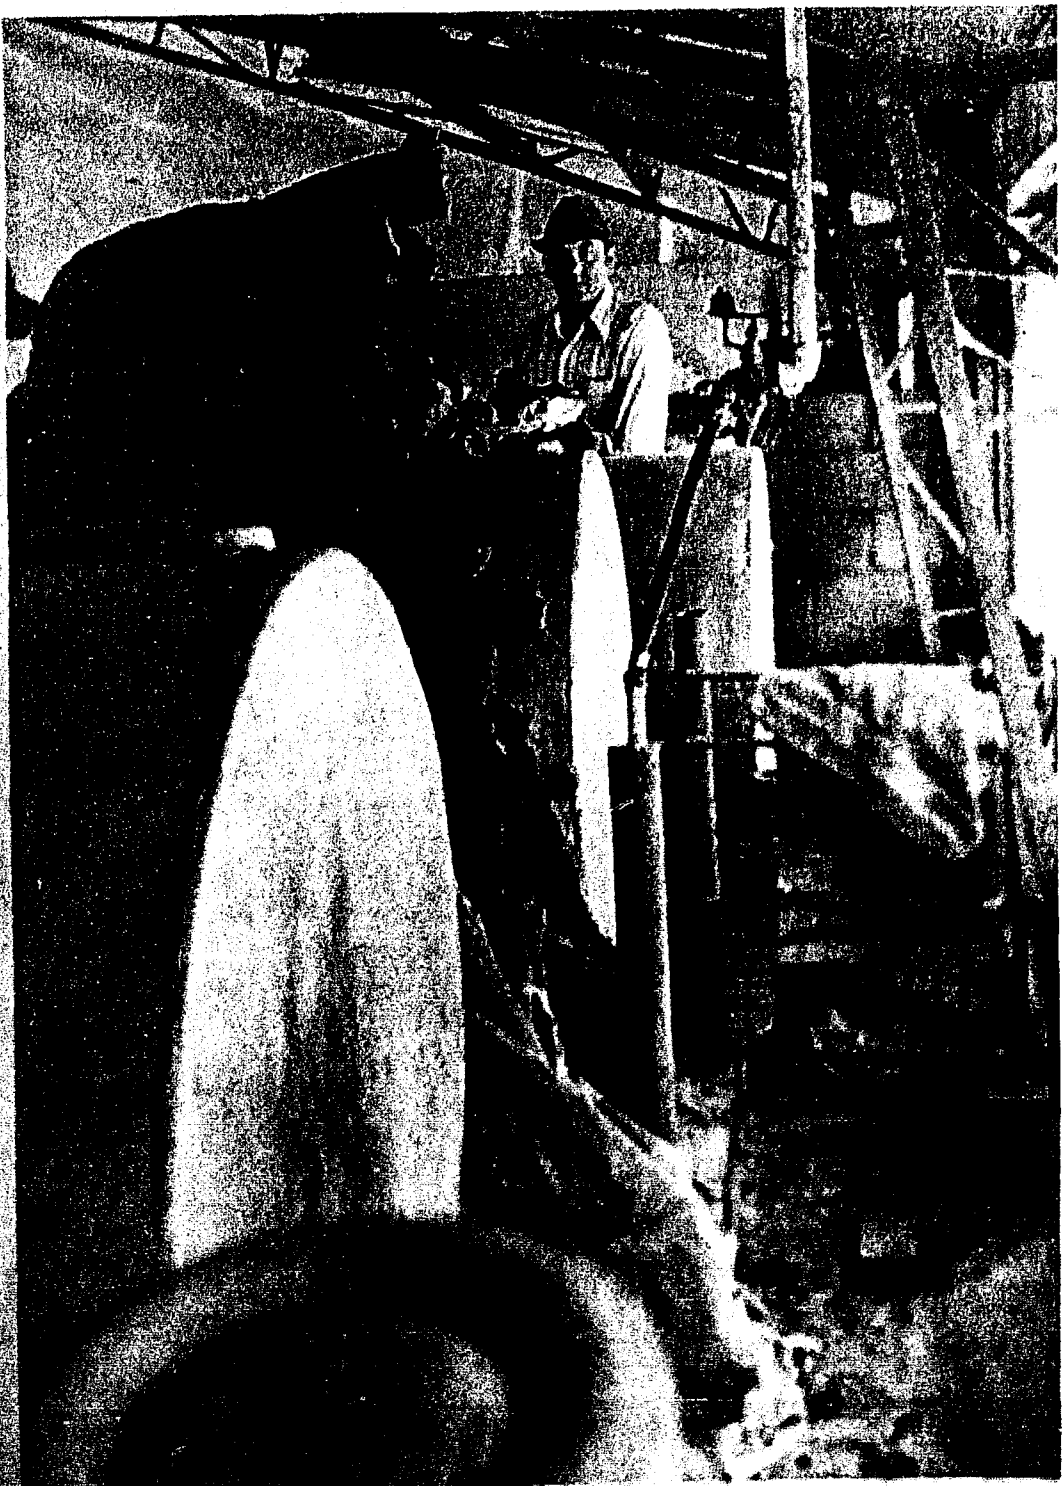

County, state and federal law enforcement agencies raided a moonshine operation near Bois d' Arc Lake Tuesday and destroyed a mammoth operation involving six 550-gallon still pots and destroyed more than 3,000 gallons of mash, 55 gallons of moonshine and confiscated 26 gallons for evidence. One arrest was made near the still setup.

The operation was housed in a hog barn near the road leading from Spring Hill to Bois d' Arc Lake. The pots were still hot when the agents made the raid, but no one was found on the premises.

All of the apparatus was destroyed and the huge still pots were cut up into sections.

People in the News

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda has obtained a quickie Dominican divorce from French movie director Roger Vadim, court sources report.

They said Miss Fonda arrived here Monday under an alias and, with advance arrangements handled by a Santo Domingo law firm, obtained the divorce on Tuesday. She and Vadim were married in 1965.

Her attorneys here declined to comment on the ground the actress' U.S. lawyers had said she wanted no publicity.

Miss Fonda, who has been active in the antiwar movement, has announced plans to marry Tom Hayden, another U.S. antiwar militant.

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Actor Lee Majors says he may "surprise a few people" and marry in June.

Majors, here to film scenes for the motion picture "Cyborg," says he is engaged to Farrah Fawcett of Los Angeles, a blonde frequently seen in toothpaste and cigar advertisements.

Majors, 33, says the picture will be shown as an ABC Movie of the Week and is to be used as a pilot for a weekly television series.

Meat Story Is 'Baloney'

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have read recently that if one eats a lot of meat it will tend to make one have animal-like characteristics. Is this possibly true? Now I also read that vegetarians are trying to make meat packages contain a label that says it is dangerous to our health. What do you think of this? I eat meat at least once a day and often twice. When I don't have it, I crave it.

Dear Reader—I've heard this comment several times about animal meat giving a person animal characteristics and it's a lot of "baloney." Proteins are made up of building blocks called amino acids, and the human body uses only twenty amino acids for building and replacing its structures. It uses no other amino acids. These amino acids are necessary whether they are manufactured by the body or ingested from food. It doesn't make any difference what food they come from. Amino acids are plain, straightforward chemicals, and their chemical structure can and has been identified atom by atom, and even the exact location and structure that the atoms form together to build the amino acids. These specific chemicals are the same, regardless of whether they come from vegetables, animals, or any other source.

A lot of suggestions, such as the one you mentioned, can only be circulated by individuals who have no knowledge whatever of basic chemistry.

Now this doesn't mean that you have to get your amino acid protein from animal sources either. Many vegetarians get along extremely well obtaining all the necessary protein elements from non-meat sources. Beans are an excellent source of protein. If you want to use animal products but still avoid meat, you can use egg whites and the protein in milk products.

Cereals contain important proteins for the body. But, of course, you must have a properly balanced diet, being certain not only to get a sufficient amount of protein, but also foods of sufficient variety to provide all the essential amino acids that the body needs for good health. This also means that the diet shouldn't be limited solely to meat sources from cereal and vegetable foods.

I don't know anything about the vegetarian's idea that meat should be labeled as dangerous, but I would say that all foods can be dangerous if one eats too much of them, causing obesity and many of the modern ills. I do agree that all foods should be properly labeled concerning their content in a manner in which people can readily use this information when they are buying food. This specifically includes the total calories and the number of calories from the different food constituents, including carbohydrates, proteins, and fats, with a breakdown in the number of calories of each of the individual types of fat.

To protect those individuals with health problems, the presence of substances that can make some people sick should be listed. Gluten for example can cause a serious illness in gluten sensitive people and is found in such common items as commercial ice cream using flour for thickening.

SOUTH AFRICA HAS AIRLINE FOR BLACKS
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - Kei Air Services has been organized as the first airline exclusively for the use of black passengers flying between tribal homelands and cities in Cape Province.

THAT EXPLAINS IT

Boyleing it down

NEW YORK (AP) - The trouble with winter ailments is that they are too commonplace and conventional.

The common cold, of course, is for the mob, the 24-hour virus for the raffish. And the flu is hardly better. At the best it is only for the hoi polloi.

One year it may be the Tokyo flu, the next year the London flu, but basically it is a disease with lower-class symptoms, leaves one with second-rate feelings, and hardly appeals to anyone of distinction and genteel breeding.

Well, is there a winter disease that does? Is there any malady that can make a person of real sensitivity and social standing feel it is worth his time to be ill?

Actually, there are many - if you can but learn to spell and pronounce their names.

For example, what is the most common thing in winter? Is it not snow? And does not snow annoy you, bore you, or fill you with feelings of nervous dread? Ergo, you have your disease.

Yes, you are suffering from chionophobia, the fear of snow.

As a motorist do you worry that ice will make hill roads unsafe for driving? Take it easy, then, honey. You're a victim of cremonophobia, the fear of steep places.

And if some lazy teen-age kid sassed you when you asked him to shovel out your driveway and you're all worn out from doing the job yourself, you've automatically picked up two more attention-winning cold weather afflictions. They are pedophobia, the fear of children, and kopnophobia, the fear of fatigue. The chances are, if you are middle-age, that you are out of breath and your chest feels tight. In that case you also have cardiophobia, the fear of heart disease.

The nice thing about all these winter ailments is that none of them will make you cough, sneeze or sniffle.

American blitz hit Vietnam

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Girls in snack bars wear Rolling Stones T-shirts. A slender young man speaks English like a Pentagon memo. A middle-aged woman drives a bulldozer. A rice farmer watches cowboy movies on television.

All this and more since the Americans came.

It has been a blitz. One year there were 16,000 Americans. Four years later, there were more than half a million — 10 times as many as the French colonialists ever numbered.

The Americans paid a week's wages for a taxi ride, built an airport in two weeks and blasted an acre of jungle into compost on the chance of killing one Viet Cong. A Vietnamese could make a fortune just picking up after them.

"With the French, it was an infiltration system," says a Vietnamese professor, "with the Americans, a shock treatment."

Most of the Americans have gone, but South Vietnam still is reeling. A society that was once simple and orderly has grown new classes and new appetites. The U.S. military needed people to wash clothes and lug boxes, so it hired them. U.S. agencies and contractors needed people to type, lay bricks, cook and fix air conditioners, so they trained them. The Americans needed Vietnamese experts for "nation building," so they sent them to school.

To keep inflation down and morale up, television sets, wrist watches and a million motorbikes were imported to sop up the incoming dollars.

English has supplanted French as the most popular foreign language in secondary schools. Employment of Vietnamese in the "U.S. sector" peaked at more than 160,000 in 1969. The average employee of the Americans earned two to four times the average income, creating pockets of affluence.

The Sears Roebuck "wish book" is popular reading in magazine stalls. Vietnamese officers' jeeps become family cars by night.

Civil servants rely on graft and military men on black marketeering to provide luxuries. No government program has succeeded in stopping them.

The war displaced an estimated seven million South Vietnamese at one time or another and started a great migration to the cities. Officials hoped that, when peace came, the uprooted would drift back to the land, but they have changed their minds.

Nguyen Van Anh, vice minister of national planning and development, foresees an even greater influx into the cities as South Vietnam's million-man armed forces are demobilized.

It is not all bad, says Anh, because, "by bringing people into the army, we have given them a glimpse of the world outside their villages and we have opened their minds. Without the war, this process might have taken most of a century."

The war also has had an incalculable impact on the Vietnamese family. Children have grown up with fathers gone. Working wives frequently earn more than soldier husbands. Before the war, less than one-fourth of the university students were women, but now the percentage of coeds is well over one-third.

The draft and the high cost of setting up housekeeping caused registered marriages in Saigon to drop although the city was growing. The nuptial age rose by four years for both sexes, and the latest statistics show women initiated 960 of 1,140 divorces.

Hundreds of women have paid a month's salary or more for cosmetic surgeons to sew Caucasian-style folds into their eyelids or make their noses thinner and straighter.

Much recent Vietnamese architecture shows no relationship to tradition. New homes are ornamented with cement parabolas or triangles, and there is no trace of French or Chinese discipline.

"Experimentation?" A Vietnamese homeowner was asked. "Dislocation," he answered.

American music is popular among Vietnamese teen-agers, but it is not theirs. A people with every reason to sing the blues can't get the hang of the sound made by black Americans.

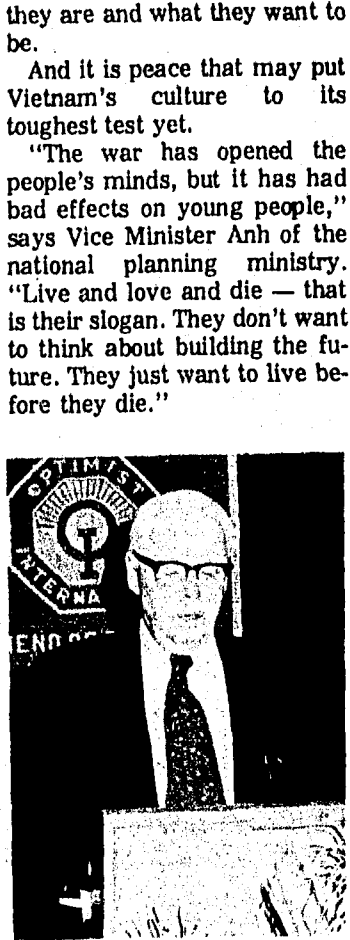

"The most significant of our shortcomings," an American official wrote recently, "has been that we have failed to provide a dream ... At no time have we attempted to tell the people what is at the end of the rainbow. What is the great aspiration which can make their suffering tolerable and their sacrifices worthwhile?"

Don't the Vietnamese already have a dream of their own? Yes, say many Vietnamese. When asked to describe it, they talk simply of prosperity and peace.

At this point, many Vietnamese seem not quite sure what they are and what they want to be.

And it is peace that may put Vietnam's culture to its toughest test yet.

"The war has opened the people's minds, but it has had bad effects on young people," says Vice Minister Anh of the national planning ministry. "Live and love and die — that is their slogan. They don't want to think about building the future. They just want to live before they die."

CLUB SPEAKER—B.N. Holt, manager of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker last week at the Optimist Club meeting. Holt reported on the progress made in Hope during 1972.
